CSCU Student Success Key Performance Indicators: 2020 Community Colleges Report

This is the fourth annual CSCU report on Student Success Key Performance Indicators (KPI) containing leading indicators of student success for First Time Ever in College (FTEIC) students. It has been updated to include fall 2020 students (n = 7,751), expanding the data set to eight (8) years.

All 7,751 students who attended in fall having never previously attended a higher education institution are included in this data set. This includes full-time and part-time students.

This report is disseminated annually to faculty, staff, and administrators of all CSCU community colleges as directed by the CSCU Board of Regents. The report is presented jointly by CSCU Success and the CSCU Office of Research and System Effectiveness.

Why This Report?

Community colleges are measured by long-term indicators such as three-year completion rates. When we focus solely on these long-term measures, it is difficult to determine in the near term whether our educational innovations are effective.

Short-term measures, such as semester-to-semester persistence, provide timely feedback, but they do not always correlate with long-term completion rates. This report focuses on short-term KPIs that have been demonstrated nationally to correlate with completion. These data, which are available quickly and help predict eventual success, are known as leading indicators.

Student Success KPIs: Consistency and Changes

The five highlighted KPIs (2, 6, 16, 20, 21) contained within this report are especially critical measures. This report finds that the following KPI data have remained stable across the eight (8) years covered by this report:

- KPI 6: Passed (C or better) college-level math and college-level English in year one (fall, winter, spring, summer)
- KPI 20: Average credits earned in the first year (fall, winter, spring, summer)
- KPI 21: Average credits attempted in the first year (fall, winter, spring, summer)

The report also highlights KPIs that experienced a change in the 2020 academic year. The following KPIs show a positive shift:

- KPI 2: Earned 24 or more college-level credits after year one (fall, winter, spring summer)
- KPI 16: Attempted 15 or more credits, including developmental, in the first term (fall)

The following KPIs show a downward shift:

- KPI 22: Percentage of students who earned zero credits of any kind in the first term (fall)

Continued Inquiry & Data

While viewing this KPI report and the KPI dashboard, there will likely be areas identified for further inquiry, analysis, and conversation. As these have been initially reviewed, there are some areas that we feel could stimulate further discussion and analysis at the local or regional levels.

- Did the modality of course offering have an effect on certain KPIs (Ex. 6, 16, 20, 21, 22)?
- Did COVID have an effect on certain KPIs (Ex. 2, 16, or 22)?
- What does the data look like when disaggregated? Who is being inequitably served by the institution?
- How can we use this data in an equity-minded way to help students attain their personal academic and career goals?

KPI Data and the NCE Grade Notation

Due to Covid-19, during the 2020-2021 academic year, community college students were offered modified grading options which included a NCE (No Credit Earned) notation. The NCE was an option for students who chose not to complete courses and did not want to receive a grade that might adversely affect their GPA.

In the 2020-2021 academic year:

- 1,032 NCE notations were given to the fall 2020 FTEIC students in this report
- 779 NCE notations were given to the spring 2021 FTEIC students in this report

In total, this is about 4% of all grades/notations earned by these students in the 2020-2021 academic year.

These notations may have had some effect on certain KPI, including:

- KPI 1-3, regarding credit accumulation
- KPI 4-9, regarding mathematics and English completion
- KPI 13, average rate of college-level course passing
- KPI 14, average rate of college-level course completion
- KPI 21, average number of credits earned

The spring 2021 grading options can be accessed here: www.ct.edu/academics/convert

Conclusion

CSCU Success and the Office of Research and System Effectiveness hope that this report will support ongoing campus conversations around your efforts to advance student success and close institutional performance gaps.
